Voter registration drive

Currently Carmarthenshire County Council is conducting a voter registration drive to ensure that all adults in the community are registered on the electoral register. Students who have recently gone to college are entitled to be on the Llangynnwr register and their college register and are entitled to a postal vote.

The numbers on the electoral register will determine the boundaries of the new parliamentary constituencies. A full registration should ensure that Carmarthenshire is able to have two members of parliament.

For more information about voter registration contact the Election registration office on 01267 234567.

Pensarn girl in Croc fright

A former QE High girl, Nicola Gurney who is teaching in Thailand has been caught up in the recent flooding. Floods up to two meters deep forced her to flee her home into waters infested with crocodiles and snakes.

New road surface for river damaged road

One side of the B4300 from Llangynnwr to Capel Dewi has recently been resurfaced by the council at the point where the River Tywi has washed away the bank below the road. Local Cllr Elwyn Williams said, "The resurfacing of part of the road shows that we can't expect the repair work to start in the near future."

Llanarthne Community Council have written to the county council asking for action to repair the eroded bank before more damage is done by the winter floods.

A seasonal picture thought to have been taken during the big freeze of 1947. The trio are standing on a frozen River Tywi with the old railway bridge and Carmarthen bridge in the background. One of the gentlemen is thought to be the father of the late Dr Margaret who lived for many years in Penymorfa Lane.

Llangynnwr Welcome Pack

Llangynnwr Community Council have agreed to produce a welcome pack for people moving into the community.

A sub-committee made up of Councillors Paul Totterdale, Glenda Lloyd, Dai Watson and Geraint Bevan are working on the publication with a view to having something ready for the New Year. The sub-committee will also be looking at the current community website with a view to making recommendations to the full council for improvements.
