Building delay

Building work at the site of the old forge at Login has been put on hold. The conversion of the building to residential use has been stopped by the county planning department. The site had planning permission to change land use to residential use but as construction work continued it became apparent that some of the existing walls were unsafe and two had to be demolished. At this point the planning department decided that a new planning application would have to be submitted leaving one remaining wall and a huge pile of soil and building rubble. Local councillors led by County Councillor Merlin Jones have expressed concern, especially as the plans incorporated features of the old smithy and the current mess gives a very poor impression of Llangynnwr as anyone enters the village.

Calls for improved signage

Following the recent closure of a number of businesses in Pensarn, local councillors have called for improved signage at the Pensarn roundabout to attract passing traffic to the trading estate.

Welsh Coastal Footpath to run through parish

The Wales Coastal which is due to open in May 2012 will run through Llangynnwr. The 870 mile route will start outside Chester in the north and run the entire length of the Welsh coastline and end at Chepstow in the south. The path which was partly funded by a £3.9m EU grant will cross into Llangynnwr at Pont King Morgan, follow the new cycle route/ footpath around the railway station and down through Pensarn, passing under the bypass and out past Morrison's. The path will continue to the Pibwrlwyd roundabout and then cut down to the river and pass out of the parish by Ysgol Bro Myrddin.

New Llangynnwr Facebook page

A new facebook site looking at Llangynnwr has recently been launched. The site has copies of the 1891 and 1911 census, a photograph gallery of current photographs from around the parish and lists of good walks on the public rights of way in the parish. The site can be seen on http://www.facebook.com/pages/Llangunnor-

Worries about lighting

Residents of Pen-y-morfa Lane

have expressed concerns about the lighting coming from the new Range store. Questions have been raised about the size of the store sign & light coming from the store late at night shining into households on the northern side of Pen-y-morfa lane.

Cllr Bevan who chaired the planning committee that passed the planning application confirmed that the conditions recommended by the community council included a condition that the size of the store sign should be no larger than the size of the neighbouring PC World sign and lights should be on one hour before & after the store opened and closed.

New Community Police Officer Appointed

Dyfed Powys Police are in the process of appointing a new community police officer to replace PC Mike Richardson who has taken up a new posting at Llangennech.

The new local bobby, PC Rhydian Jones has been a police officer for 21 years and was formerly the beat officer for Llanybydder, Pencarreg and Llanfihangel Ar Arth. Rhydian who is a fluent Welsh speaker will be supported by newly appointed PCSO Holly Thomas.

No Cold Calling Zone

No Cold Calling signs will be erected and explanatory packs will be delivered to residents of Penymorfa lane this month after they voted over the summer to establish a No Cold Call zone in their area.

Speeding traffic

Following recent speed checks on roads in Llangynnwr seven speeding tickets have been issued by the police. All seven recipients of the tickets opted for £80 speed awareness courses rather than receiving points on their driving licenses.

Hogwarts Express - A regular sight in Llangynnwr!

Built in April 1937 the Olton Hall (4-6-0) was based at Carmarthen railway station from 1950. The train was bought up by railway enthusiast in the early 1960s and then more recently featured in the Harry Potter Sagas.

Rescued from Administration

The Brynderwen Care Home on Capel Dewi Road has been rescued from administration by new owner Tudur Williams. The home is to be refurbished and there are plans to increase its capacity from 29 rooms by a further 20 new rooms over the next few years.

Clerk made permanent

The Clerk to Llangynnwr Community Council has successfully completed his six month probationary period and the appointment has been made permanent by the full council. Chairman of the council, Cllr Alun West congratulated the clerk, Clive Thomas on an excellent start and wished him all the best in the future.

Clive thanked the councillors for their support and also made a point of thanking Wyn Davies the former clerk for his help and support over the probationary period.
